Variants of Concern

Last week, Dr. Hinshaw stated that if you are confirmed as having Covid-19, you should assume you have the B.1.17 Variant (UK). All positive Covid-19 tests are tested for variants.

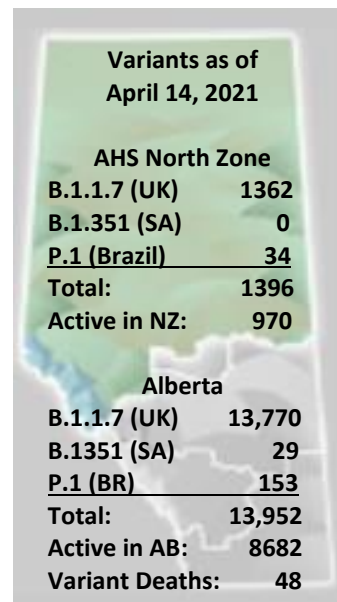

All close contacts of Covid-19 must start their 14-day quarantine from the LAST day they are in contact with the case. If you share a home with a variant case, you are considered in contact the entire time the patient is contagious, unless the sick person stays in an isolated bedroom and washroom the entire time. All close contacts of Covid-19 will now be offered two tests (previously only for confirmed variant cases).

Although the variants are more contagious, they can be prevented the same way as the original virus:

Get tested if you have any symptoms

Know the isolation and quarantine requirements for the different strains

Today, Variants represent 53.5% of all active Covid-19 cases

The Path Forward

Roadmap to help Albertans understand how restrictions will be eased in steps.

As population vaccination increases and new case numbers decline, restrictions will be eased as able.

Tuesday, April 6, Premier Kenney announced the following restrictions being reintroduced in Alberta, called "Stop the Spike" effectively receding back to Step 1 of the Path Forward.

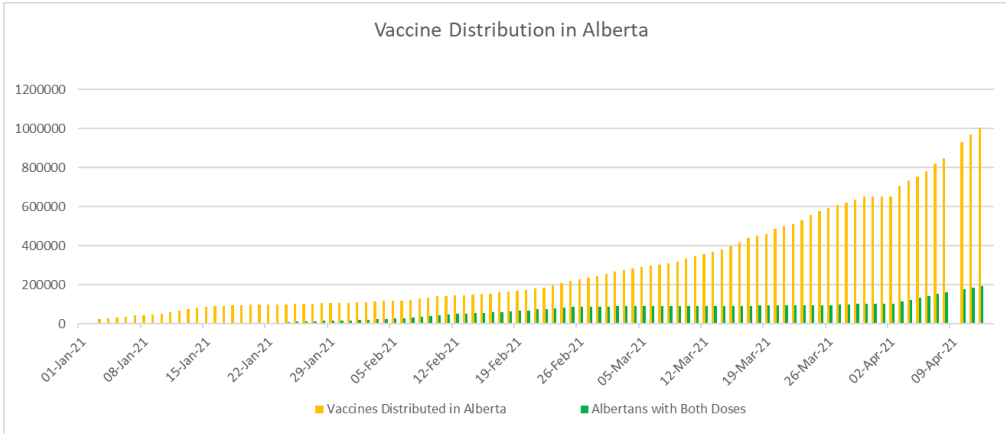

- Retail reduced to 15% of capacity as of April 7
- Only One on One Personal Training is allowed for fitness activities as of April 7
- Performance Activities are not permitted, except for youth development activities.
- Libraries must close, and all entertainment businesses
- Hotels may stay open, but pools and spas must close
- Effective April 9th at noon, restaurants must close for indoor dining. Patios, takeout, and delivery are permitted.
